New designs

2017

The ideas that generated some of our collections can become the starting point for new designs, with them sharing a rich and suggestive DNA, their development is the confirmation of their value.

To start is Nuez, a chair designed by Patricia Urquiola, it is suggestive, warm and at the same time technological, evoking the folds of a sheet of paper and the result is multi-purpose. Versatility gives way to comfort, represented by the Grand Raglan sofa – created by Piergiorgio Cazzaniga – which is presented as a premium option from a sound and timeless formal origin. For its part, the Capri Lounge is situated in another range of use and another concept: the upholstery as the most recognizable feature of a lounge chair that combines comfort and sophistication.

The care of details also translates into seemingly minimal interventions that generate great changes. The reinterpretation of the Couvé armchair as well as the new versions of Alya and Flex Stool, also respond to this intention.

The culture of artisanal woodworking allied with innovation in materials and technologies is perceived in chairs like Lake, the result of an exhaustive effort on the value and timelessness of wood, the new version of the Smart stool, or Duos, created by Jasper Morrison, and characterized by their formal synthesis and agelessness.

The catalog also follows the trajectory of a number of table collections such as Reverse Conference Lounge, Reverse Occasional and Radial, a versatile system offered in individual tables, meetings or high table versions. All of them are part of the idea of versatility. They adapt seamlessly to different professional environments, incorporating connectivity and lounge.

In short, a selection of designs seeking greater versatility and new aesthetic, functional and innovative in the use of new materials. All are focused on use in new workspaces, corporate and public, but at the same time are suitable for residential and hospitality spaces.
